Breeze Millard's New Single "I Have My Own Life" Out April 2nd!
Life's a breeze for Whyalla's new superstar!

Seventeen year old Breeze Millard is a young artist with a very bright future ahead. The girl from rural Whyalla, South Australia, is about to release her debut single "I Have My Own Life" on April 2nd worldwide. The song is a power ballad that showcases Millard's enthralling vocals and sophisticated song writing.

In late 2016 Breeze Millard was crowned the winner of the Whyalla Recording Scholarship thanks to her song "I Have My Own Life". Impressing a panel of judges with her original music she was awarded with an all-expenses paid recording package to help launch her debut single on a global scale. And now with less than a week to go until the single is launched worldwide it is clear the award went to a deserving song writer.

"I Have My Own Life" captures the powerful and enchanting voice of Breeze Millard in this emotive ballad. The team of musicians playing on this song truly bring it to life with their musicianship and arrangement, transforming an acoustic song into a commercially ready release. Supported by the team at Stormfront Productions there is no doubt this young artist will go far, with her first song a promising start in Breeze Millard's future.

"I Have My Own Life" goes live worldwide on April 2nd, and will be available for purchase through iTunes and at www.breezemillard.com
